Custodial history

Wendy McPeake donated this fonds in May 2016.

Scope and content

This fonds consists of Wendy McPeake's personal files. It is composed mainly of textual records from the late 1970s to the early 1980s. It contains files related to her involvement in various groups and organisations such as the Ottawa Women's Centre, the Political Action Collective, the Feminist Action Collective, the Local 7/SORWUC, and the Public Service Alliance of Canada Women's Committee. It includes materials related to feminist publishers from Canada and US collected by Wendy McPeake when she was arts coordinator for Upstream magazine. The fonds also contains various subject files that reflect Wendy McPeake's interests during this period. The 1970s was an active period for feminist organisations, especially at grass-roots level where a rich feminist culture of politics, music, publishing, and art flourished. Thus, this fonds offers insight into Women's Movement in Ottawa mostly during the late 1970s to the early 1980s.

Series: 10-032-S2 - Political Action Collective (PAC)Title: Political Action Collective (PAC)ID: 10-032-S2Date: 1978-1980 (date of creation)Scope and content:

The Political Action Collective (PAC) of the Ottawa Women's Centre was created in 1978. The Ottawa Women's Centre had carried out various activities before the PAC's creation. However, as the work of the Centre increased, PAC was formed to take on the political work.

"The group operated as a collective, practicing rotation of leadership, consensus decision-making, respect for each other, equal speaking time. This latter ideal had been the impetus for some of us to form the PAC. We wanted to work in a closed group with feminists of like mind. [...] Inspired by American feminists, in particular the New York group Women's Liberation (later Redstockings), we self-defined as radical feminists and were woman-identified." (Wendy McPeake, letter of the May 31, 2016).

The series consists of records related to some collective's actions. It contains records on the 1978 International Women's Day demonstration (March 8, 1978). It includes records on the aftermath of the International Women's Day demonstration, on March 10, 1978, a spontaneous picket ("reportage not garbage") protested the CBC's coverage. The series concerns also the August 25, 1978 event, inspired by British feminists, where women took to the streets in the first "Reclaim the Night" demonstration in Canada. It contains records on the conference on Feminist Assumption held on March 10, 1979, records on the display of "50 How Comes" an action to critique the 50th anniversary of Person's Day at Ottawa City Hall, in September 1979. Finally, the series includes records on the "For Every Woman Raped in Every War" action for Remembrance Day, November 11, 1979.

File: 10-032-S2-F6 - Person's Week - "50 How Comes"

Title: Person's Week - "50 How Comes"

ID: 10-032-S2-F6

Date: October to November, 1979 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

This file consists of records related to the Person's Week event in 1979. A display of "50 How Comes" was an action to critique the 50th anniversary of Person's Day at Ottawa City Hall, September 1979. A controversy arose when City Hall employees removed three of the "How Comes" from the Ottawa Women's Centre's display. These were: If women are persons, how come we still have to fake orgasms? If women are persons, how come we don't have free access to abortion? If women are persons, how come we can't come out as lesbians? After a sit-in in Mayor Marian Dewar's office and a substantial petition, the censored "How comes" were returned to the display. (See Upstream, vol. 3, no.10, October-November 1979) (Wendy McPeake, letter of May 31, 2016). The file contains a promotional package for participants. It includes records related to the censorship at City Hall of material from the Ottawa Women's Centre concerning abortion and women's sexuality. It contains correspondence with City Hall, notes, letter proofs, small poster, press release, and copies of petition's sheets.

File: 10-032-S2-F7 - For Every Woman Raped In Every War

Title: For Every Woman Raped In Every War

ID: 10-032-S2-F7

Date: 1978-1980 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

This file consists of records related to the Remembrance Day Ceremony on November 1978, 1979 and 1980. "For Every Woman Raped in Every War", was an action that was organized for Remembrance Day, November 11, 1979. A banner was created for the occasion and a poem by Kate Nonesuch was presented. Wendy McPeake explained that they walked as a group to the microphones at the national cenotaph in Ottawa at the end of the Remembrance Day Ceremony, unfurled the banner and began to read Kate's poem (Wendy McPeake, letter of May 31, 2016). Within seconds the microphones cut out, so they chanted the poem together as loudly as they could. Very few of the huge crowd could hear them, but they received some support and enthusiastic applause from folks standing in the front. (See Upstream, vol. 4, no.1, December 1979, p.4). The file contains a small poster titled "For Every Woman Raped in Every War", correspondence, notes, articles and newspaper clippings.

Title: Feminist Action Collective (FAC)

ID: 10-032-S3

Date: 1979-1995 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

This series contains files related to the Feminist Action Collective and its actions from 1981 to ca. 1983. In 1981, Political Action Collective of the Ottawa Women's Centre (PAC) was renamed the Feminist Action Collective. The group decided to focus their energy on women's work and workplace issues. "Inspired by the women's national strike in Iceland, we began to organize for a Women's Strike, wrote and distributed leaflets on sexual harassment, women's work, and women and new technology. We also supported the Ottawa Tenants' Council's Tent City, and provided strike support to unionized women at the insurance company, l'Union du Canada (OPEIU 225), and the British American Banknote Company." Series: 10-032-S4 - Service, Office and Retail Workers of Canada (SORWUC)

Title: Service, Office and Retail Workers of Canada (SORWUC)

ID: 10-032-S4

Date: 1977-1985 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

This series consists of files related to the Service Office and Retail Workers of Canada (SORWUC), an independent feminist union based in Vancouver. Wendy McPeake was active in SORWUC (Local 7), involved in setting up Local 7 and the initial stages of contract development (Wendy McPeake, letter of May 31, 2016). Continuing the focus on workplace and labour issues, the Feminist Action Collective became a chartered local of the SORWUC/Local 7, in 1983. The series contains administrative records, lists, and records related to sponsored workshops on unions: "History of SORWUC: Why a Feminist Union?", "Daycare Workers Organize the Workplace: What can be Learned?", "L'Union du Canada: Insurance Workers Break New Ground", "Mothers, Domestic Workers and Volunteers: Recognizing and Organizing". The series includes records related to SORWUC Local 7 actions to organize and represent a bargaining unit of workers at Interval House of Ottawa, a home for women escaping domestic abuse. "By the time, the SORWUC contract was negotiated, an exodus of Ottawa feminists to Vancouver left the Ottawa movement tired and burned out." (Wendy McPeake, letter of May 31, 2016).

File: 10-032-S8-F17 - Bonnie Robichaud 's Case - Grievance hearing and related materials

Title: Bonnie Robichaud 's Case - Grievance hearing and related materials

ID: 10-032-S8-F17

Date: 1979-1983 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

This file contains grievance hearing and related handouts on the Bonnie Robichaud's Case. In 1980, Robichaud filed a complaint with the Canadian Human Rights Commission alleging that she had been sexually harassed, discriminated against and intimidated by the Department of National Defence by the actions of her supervisor who had sexually harassed her. The Human Rights Tribunal dismissed the complaint but Robichaud persisted and appealed. A Review Tribunal found that she had been sexually harassed and also ruled that the Department of National Defence was liable for the actions of its supervisory personnel. This file concerns only the first part of the case and not the Supreme Court's decision. This file was assembled by Bonnie Robichaud and sent to Wendy McPeake.
