Administrative history / Biographical sketch

Note

Helen Levine (nee Zivian) was born in Ottawa in 1923. She was a social worker, activist and professor. At the School of Social Work at Carleton University, she introduced women's issues and feminist perspectives into the curriculum for the first time. She received the Governor General's Award in Commemoration of the Persons Case for advancing the equality of women in Canada.

Helen Levine was actively involved in the women's movement since the late 1960s. She was a member of the Faculty of the School of Social Work at Carleton University from the mid-1970s until 1988. Upon retiring, she practised feminist counselling as well as speaking and doing workshops on topics related to women's personal and political struggles. She was a member of the Crones, a group of older feminists; of a singing group called Sistersong; and of Woman-to-Woman, a feminist counselling project in Ottawa. She published many articles, most of which have been critiques of the conventional helping professions and of the issues related to a feminist counselling approach. In October 1989, she was one of six women across Canada to receive the Person's Award, in recognition of her contribution to improving the status of Canadian Women.

Helen Levine died in Ottawa in 2018.

Scope and content

The fonds offers insight into Helen Levine's career as a social worker and professor at the School of Social Work at Carleton University as well as her interest in feminist issues.

The first two series consist of posters and t-shirts collected by Helen Levine that illustrate issues addressed by the Second Wave Feminist Movement. The issues include violence against women, women's labour movement, rape prevention, and equality, etc.

The fonds also consists of a series related to her published writings (essays, articles, book reviews) and papers (addresses, workshop presentations, poems). A series on the School of Social Work at Carleton

University illustrates Helen Levine's involvements in the 1970s to implement a feminist perspective into the school program. Included are records from the School of Social Work and Research Collective on Women and Welfare consisting of memoranda, meeting minutes, correspondence and various publications giving historical information on the school program's evolution. There are also records related to courses that Helen Levine taught and include course outlines, courses descriptions, notes, and students' essays. Two series are devoted to resource material collected by Helen Levine for teaching. They consist of essays, articles, publications, and clippings. One of these two series presents documents classified by subjects and the other by authors. This material collected by Helen Levine to support her teaching activities offers reflections on social work and feminist counselling approaches as they developed in the 1970s and 1980s. The fonds also contains general correspondence received by Helen Levine, which includes original handwritten correspondence with her friend Oonagh Berry occurring between 2001 and 2002.
